CRH

CRH is a diversified building materials group which employs approximately 75,000 people at 3,600 operating locations in 35 countries, and through its Oldcastle subsidiary is the largest integrated group in its sector in the US. Headquartered in Ireland with stock exchange listings in Dublin, London and New York, CRH reported sales of over €17 billion in 2010. The group's businesses range from the fundamentals of heavy materials to construct the building frame (e.g. cement, lime, aggregates, concrete, asphalt, precast concrete elements), through value-added exterior products that complete the building envelope (e.g. concrete pavers & rooftiles, clay bricks, fencing, glazing systems), to distribution channels which service construction fit-out and renewal (e.g. builders' merchants and DIY stores). With a strong balance sheet and operations focus, CRH continues to grow through acquisitions and investments while maintaining a strong credit rating. The group entered the Chinese and Turkish cement markets in 2007 and the Indian cement market in 2008.
